DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hausmann US 5,252,649.

Hausmann shows rubber compositions for tire tread members, see abstract. This patent further describes plasticizer constituents as being fatty acid triglyceride compounds which are >50% oleic acid triesters, see column 2, line 63 through column 3, line 65. The extraction of the oleic acid triesters from vegetable and/or sunflower oil is discussed in the abstract as well as at column 3, line 52+. The diene elastomer is suggested at column 3, lines 38. The claimed mass fraction is suggested at column 3, line 55+.

The main difference between the claimed invention and the prior art is claimed minimum mass fraction of 60% is not expressly stated or exemplified. This limitation is obvious from the disclosure of the fatty acid triglyceride residues is greater than 50% oleic acid. This limitation is suggested by the overlap in scope of the amounts. As such, the claims are rendered prima facie obvious.
